Building on Main Street heavily damaged by fire

Occupants of apartments all make it out safely

BY MARK CAMPBELL
Madison firefighters from five companies were on the scene of a two story structure fire in the 800 block of West Main Street at about 6:40 a.m. Friday that heavily damaged one of the city's buildings in the downtown historic business district.

The fire was reported by a Hanover College employee, Keith Cornett, who was on his way to work when he spotted smoke coming from 829 West Main Street and soon after saw flames and called 911. Cornett stopped to see if the occupants were aware of the fire but by that time a resident of the apartment where the blaze most likely originated was already making sure his neighbors were awake exiting the building.

All total, five city fire companies responded to the blaze, which gutted the historic structure and blocked traffic on Main Street much of the day. There were no injuries, but a firefighter was treated for smoke inhalation.

Chip seal work set for State Roads 256, 250

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT
Traffic on State Roads 256 and 250 will be impacted by a couple of Indiana Department of Transportation road improvement projects beginning next week. Maintenance crews for INDOT will begin chip seal operations on State Roads 256 and 250 in Jefferson and Jennings counties between State Roads 3 and 62 and on S.R. 250 between State Roads 3 and 7 beginning on Monday, June 1, weather permitting. Chip seal operations typically require around three to four days per location depending upon weather. Work is completed under lane closures with flagging to prevent damage to both vehicles and the roadway. During operations, existing pavement is coated with liquid asphalt, which seals cracks and provides waterproof protection. This extends the service life of the roadway and lowers maintenance costs. Once the seal coat is complete, loose aggregate is applied and then swept from the road. After a curing period, crews will return and fog seal the new driving surface. In addition, INDOT maintenance crews will close S.R. 256 just west of S.R. 3 at County Road

1525 W. in Jefferson County starting Wednesday, June 3, to complete pipe replacement work. The road will remain closed through Friday, June 5, weather permitting. County Roads 1525 W. and 575 E. are expected to remain open, with possible short term closures as needed for moving equipment in the area. Motorists should utilize an alternate route such as

S.R. 56 while work is in progress. State Road 256 also remains closed further west between S.R. 203 and U.S. 31 in Austin as part of a $17.6 million reconstruction project. The road is expected to reopen at that location this fall. Motorists should slow down, watch for stopped traffic and drive distraction-free through all work zones. All work is weather dependent.

Primary election slated for Tuesday

Early voting available today and Monday morning

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT
The primary election in Indiana is Tuesday, June 2 when voters can go to one of 26 precincts at 17 locations to decide who will represent each party in the November General Election. A number of local and state offices are on the ballot but with few actually races contested — especially locally. The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday but voters can still vote early from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. today and from 8 a.m. to noon on Monday at the Jefferson County Courthouse.

The biggest competition will be with five Republicans competing for three nominations in the County Council at large race including incumbents Pam Crozier and Heather Traylor Foy and challengers Gary Copeland, Charles Johnson and Michael T. Scott. All other local races from Superior Court Judge to County Surveyor are uncontested until November when the Republican and Democratic nominees will square off.

There is competition at the state level where Sixth District incumbent Congressman Greg Pence is being challenged for the GOP nomination by Mike Campbell and George Holland, Jeannine Lee Lake and Barry Welsh are all running for the Democratic nomination.

However, incumbent Gov. Eric Holcomb and incumbent state Rep. Terry Goodin (66th), Randy Frye (67th) and Jim Lucas (69th) are all running unopposed in the primary even though they will face challenges in November. Frye and Lucas are Republicans while Goodin is a Democrat. Holcomb, Goodin and Lucas all have opposition in the fall in Democrats Woodrow Myers for governor and Jeffery Prewitt for 69th District State Representative and Republican challengers Zach Payne and Brian Tibbs for 66th District State Representative.

Local voters can also weigh in on the nominations for president where incumbent Donald Trump and Bill Weld are on the GOP ballot and presumptive Democratic challenger Joe Biden heads a list of nine candidates on a ballot in which the other eight have already dropped out of the race. Incumbent County Commissioners David Bramer (Lower District) and Robert Little (Middle District) are both unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Republican Blaine S. Goode and Democrat Mary J. Stotts are unopposed in the primary for Superior Court Judge. Democrat Molly O'Connor is unopposed for County Recorder and Republican incumbent Melinda Hallgarth-Klopp and Democrat John Hutchinson are unopposed for their party's nominations for County Treasurer. There is no announced candidate for coroner for the primary.

Twelve Democrats will seek 10 nominations as state convention delegates including David Alcorn, Brody Bennett, Jim Crone, Daniel E. Dattilo, James Fischer, John Hutchinson, Kelly Knight, Suzanne Laine, Janet Huber Lowry, Phil Mullins, David G. Rettig and Rebecca M. Rettig.

Twelve Republican will seek nine nominations as state convention delegates including David Alcorn, Brody Bennett, Sharon L. Daghir, Chris Hill, Mindy McGee, Linda Pittman, Mike Pittman, Katie Rampy, Rick Reuss, Chris Shelton, Patrick E. Thevenow and Josh Webb.

Two caught in the act of burglary

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT
Madison Police arrested Derek Patrick Paul Snell, 26, of Scottsburg, and Rebecca Ann Liter, 41, of Madison, on various drug and burglary charges after catching the pair in the act of burglarizing a residence on Tuesday.

Officers responded to a residential burglary in progress in the 1000 block of Park Avenue around 11 p.m. Upon arrival, they located a pickup truck in the driveway with the head lights on.

They located Liter in the driver's seat of the running truck.

Police then approached the rear of the residence and spotted Derek Snell carrying a television out of the back door. Patrolman Josh Nolan, the lead investigative officer, also noticed a window broken out of the door in which Snell was exiting.

Officers searched the pickup and found additional property allegedly taken from the residence, in addition to methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia. Snell and Liter were arrested at that time.

Snell faces charges of residential burglary, criminal trespass, theft, criminal mischief, possession of methamphetamine and possession of paraphernalia.

Liter only received possession of methamphetamine and paraphernalia charges. She and Snell were taken to Jefferson County Jail following the arrests.

MPD Capt. Rick Mundt, Sgt. R. Wayne Phillips, and Patrolman Brian Ashcraft also assisted with the investigation.

“There was smoke and then there was a lot of fire really fast,” said Cornett.

Matt Earl, the resident of the apartment where the blaze started, described the same scenario. He felt heat, saw smoke and then the fire just took off.

“I woke up because I was hot. I looked over at the window and saw and smelled smoke and then flames and started to panic. I just started beating on everybody's doors for them to get out,” said Earl, who didn't even stop to put on shoes and was still barefooted as he watched firefighters blast water onto the now raging fire after escaping with just the clothes on his back.

Earl said he has lived in the second floor apartment for about two years. His sister, Krystal Baringhuas, lives in another apartment on the first floor.

Making sure they and the other four or five residents got out was the most important thing, said Earl, who stood or sat nearby watching firefighters bring the blaze under control.

The blaze draped a heavy cloud of smoke over downtown Madison and forced traffic on State Road 56 to detour the site for several hours. Neighbors in the area sat on front porches and stood on sidewalks across the street watching the building burn.

Firefighters apply water to a fire in the 800 block of West Main Street in downtown Madison Friday morning. The blaze started at about 6:40 a.m. in a second-floor apartment and eventually engulfed the second floor and attic with the roof partially collapsing. All residents were able to get out without injury.

west. All of the occupants got out uninjured. One firefighter was transported to King's Daughters' Hospital complaining of smoke inhalation but he was treated and released later Friday morning.

Washer said a cause has not yet been identified but the blaze is under investigation.

“It must of been electrical,” said Earl. “I didn't have anything burning or anything on except for the room air conditioner.”

custody without incident. Police recovered both the hammer and the stolen money without incident.

May is charged with one count of robbery while armed with a deadly weapon and another count of receiving stolen property.

Couch said that while the official number of cases is 43, she is confident that a 44th case, which is currently being investigated, will end up also being credited to the county as a positive. According to Couch, 66% of the cases in the county have been males and 68% have come from the city of Madison. The hardest-hit age group has been those ages 50 to 59 at 25% with ages 30 to 39 the second-highest at 20%. The county has tested a total of 1,361 individuals. Jefferson County remains one of the least-affected counties in the state of Indiana. Of bordering counties, Switzerland County has reported 20 cases, Ripley 108, Scott 119, Jennings 130 and Clark 492. Jefferson County has experienced one death while Switzerland has yet to report a death. Scott has had three deaths, Jennings four, Ripley six and Clark 41. While the county may be reopening, there are several restrictions that will remain in place at the Health Department, according to Couch. The department is operating under appointment-only operation at this time and asks that only one

Statewide spread slows, while deaths increase

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT
COVID-19 numbers look to be dropping statewide and in the county, Indiana Department of Health data shows. Positive cases across Indiana have spiked a few times but overall dropped since the April 26 peak when 950 cases were recorded. The amount of daily cases has generally stayed in the 300-500 range over the past week as opposed to 500-700 daily cases per day a month ago. The outlier was May 27, when ISDH recorded 640 new cases. Deaths have deceased more dramatically. About 35-50 Hoosiers died each day in late April while 10-20 deaths were recorded daily in the week leading up to May 27. The amount of people tested each day has risen throughout the pandemic and peaked in mid-May, around the time drive-through testing was offered at North Madison Christian Church from May 14-17. So far, 1,335 Jefferson Countians have been tested as of May 27.

individual be in the building at a time. Masks are required at all times. “We also highly encourage to think ahead when it comes to immunizations for school,” Couch said. “Children entering grades Kindergarten, sixth and seniors need to have their shots and hepatitis is now required for all grades. You don’t want to wait until the last minute to get your shots.” Anyone needing to make an appointment or who has additional questions can contact the health department at 812-273-1942. The Jefferson County Courthouse is now open for early voting for the upcoming June 2 primary election on Tuesday. That voting is being held on the lower level from 8 a.m. to noon today and from 8 a.m. to noon on Tuesday. The Jefferson County EMA’s COVID briefings will now be held once every two weeks unless a need arises. The next briefing will be on Friday, June 12.

a suspect in the case. She had been an employee of the Madison Correctional Unit but was terminated once corrections officials realized she would be charged in the felonies. The stabbings took place for unknown reasons on May 11 at an apartment complex in Indianapolis. Witnesses told police they saw a red-haired woman wearing black pants, a shirt with patches on it, and a black knit hat stabbing the three victims while they were in an upstairs area of the apartment, according to an affidavit. The suspect, since then identified as Wolf, left behind the knit hat when she left the scene. The hat had an IDOC patch and a tag with the name “Wolf” on it. Investigators connected the hat to Kristen Wolf and allegedly found several combat-style knives and uniforms with patches identical to the patch on the hat recovered at the crime scene when they searched her residence on May 22. According to court records, investigators also found sheets of paper on Wolf’s bedroom nightstand describing her curiosity for killing people and how she “took inspiration from serial killers.” A short will signed in her name was also found during the search by investigators. Murder is listed as an unclassified felony in Indiana and carries a prison sentence of from 45-65 years while attempted murder is a Class A felony publishable by 20-40 years in prison and battery by means of a deadly weapon is a Level 5 felony that carries a 1-6 year prison sentence. Wolf’s next court appearance is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 30. Wolf remains incarcerated in the Marion County Jail where she is being held without bond.

Your other half is within you

Dear Annie: In July of last year, I saw three psychics, and they all told me that when I started college in September I would meet the love of my life again. I didn't believe them because I have no luck in that department. Well, within a week I ran into my old boyfriend, whom I dated at two different times in my life.

The first time that "Trey" and I met was in high school. My brother introduced us. I was 14, still playing with Barbies, and I didn't know how to kiss. We were both nerds. He wore an orange tuxedo to prom. We continued dating for a little while after high school graduation, before he left for the military. It ended soon after.

When we reconnected, I was 21 and had become a single mom, and he was in Texas for military training. We had so much fun whenever he'd visit.

But the distance was hard, and I was struggling with the challenges of single motherhood. We ended things on good terms.

Then I ran into him last fall. He said he'd always wondered if we would see each other again. That day I realized one thing for certain: that the piece I'd been missing in my soul was him. I felt home.

Unfortunately, I looked him up online afterward and saw that he had gotten married in June. That broke my heart.

I know he's a wonderful man for a husband, and he would make an excellent father. I would be honored to have his children, even if we didn't end up staying together afterward. Should I tell him how I feel, since marriage doesn't mean anything nowadays, or live in regret and heartbreak? I feel like we belong together but we did it wrong. He was the only boyfriend who treated me like a person, but I blew it both times. — Pining for the One Who Slipped Away

Dear Pining for the One Who Slipped Away: This man was (SET ITAL) a (END ITAL) love of your life. But he won't be (SET ITAL) the (END ITAL) love of your life. And while he may have been the first boyfriend to treat you well, he won't be the last. You will make sure of that by developing better self-esteem. Throw yourself headfirst into your college classes; try new hobbies; get out there and meet new people. In time, you will come to find that Trey wasn't your missing piece; you were whole on your own.

"Ask Me Anything: A Year of Advice From Dear Annie" is out now! Annie Lane's debut book — featuring favorite columns on love, friendship, family and etiquette — is available as a paperback and e-book. To have and to hold off on marriage for a while

Dear Annie: I have been dating this boy for about eight months. We are both in our teens, and we are in love, to say the least. We talked about getting promised, and I was wondering at what age would it be OK to be promised. I would love to get promised, except for what others would think.

My friend just got engaged to her fiancée at 17, and it seems really strange, but I can see how it could be easy to say yes. Anyway, my boyfriend was thinking about getting promised on our one-year anniversary, and he has a ring too. — Young Love

Dear Young Love: Congratulations on your newfound love. What a beautiful thing it is to be in love. Focus on your relationship and your growth as individuals rather than what other people might think. Enjoy your time together as boyfriend and girlfriend, and then you can enjoy your time together as fiancées, and then, eventually, you can enjoy your time as husband and wife.

Your friend getting engaged at 17 does seem a bit young. Why the rush to marry? In most states, the law is that if you are under the age of 18, you have to have your parents' consent. Take your time and enjoy your young love each day and every moment.

Dear Annie: There has been a recent dust-up in our family over my brother's and his wife's views against vaccinating their kids. My brother's wife will, on occasion, post something on Facebook against vaccines, and some of us will respond with a differing view. This has caused tension, to say the least, and to rectify this, some of us have unfriended or unfollowed her on Facebook.

The real issue is this: My brother and his wife feel it is their right to not vaccinate. But isn't it the rest of the family's right to not be exposed?

I bring this up because, I am immunosuppressed due to a transplant, and my aunt and uncle are both in their 90s. If the unvaccinated niece exposes us to a virus, it can quite possibly kill us. How do we associate with my brother and family without taking this risk?

My brother believes my parents caught pneumonia by getting the pneumonia shot, which is not possible. The pneumonia shot is not a live virus shot. I can counter his beliefs with many publications by the Centers for Disease Control, American Medical Association and other legitimate organizations, as well as advice from doctors, but my brother and his wife refuse to do the research on these issues. — Frustrated in Arizona

Dear Frustrated in Arizona: Your frustration is understandable, and I don't see the dust settling anytime soon if your brother and his wife continue to not listen to doctors or research medical facts about the importance of vaccinations.

Yes, they have a right to choose not to be vaccinated. And you have a right to be concerned about your safety and that of your aunt and uncle. However, what I see missing from this dust-up is listening. Using Facebook isn't really communicating. Have a phone call or video chat with your brother and sister-in-law. State your concerns clearly. And then listen to theirs without judgment. It sounds like your brother has serious fears from your parents developing pneumonia. By hearing him out, you might help alleviate his fears. And then he and his wife might be able to hear you in a new way.

Rucker Sports Complex, Crystal Beach to reopen June 15

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Both the Rucker Sports Complex and Crystal Beach public pool will be open for business beginning June 15 under a new plan unveiled by City of Madison Parks & Recreation Director Seth Pennington on Wednesday at the monthly meeting of the Parks Board.

The guidelines issued by the Parks Department will mirror those that have been laid out by Indiana Gov. Eric Holcomb and are subject to change at any time. Among the regulations that will need to be followed will be maintaining proper social distancing and keeping the number of individuals in each area to a minimum.

“I just want to thank the staff from the parks department. They’ve been working very diligently and thoughtfully under very difficult circumstances to make sure all of the parks operations are finally opening and doing it safely,” Madison Mayor Bob Courtney said. “The entire parks department has done a really good job of putting a lot of thought behind how we bring these services back to the community. That’s been our goal since day one.”

The Rucker Sports Complex opened on May 22 for practices by travel teams with no more than 100 persons per space but will open to all teams starting June 15 as Indiana enters Stage 4 of the governor’s plan for reopening. Under those restrictions, each space will be limited to 250 people and only those spectators necessary for travel will be admitted. Starting July 4, games will resume with standard operations.

Pennington said the parks department will take several steps to ensure the safety of individuals using the complex. He said that bleachers will be taken out of the complex and spectators will be encouraged to bring their own chairs so that they can spread around the field.

He also said the concession stands will be closed, although the parks department is exploring the option of installing vending machines.

“Unfortunately, these are the guidelines that have been set down by the state,” Pennington said. “We know there is health concerns with the vending machines but there is not a lot else we can do at this time.”

In addition, Pennington said that hand sanitizers will be installed in every dugout and throughout the facility and players will be encouraged to use their own equipment, rather than sharing with others. Umpires will be moved from behind the plate to between the pitcher and second base and handshakes after games will also be eliminated and replaced with some other “sportsmanlike gesture.”

Registration for the summer leagues is now under way through June 5 by calling the parks department at 812-265-8308 or by visiting www.madison-in.gov/184/Youth-Sports. Pennington also said that refunds will be issued to anybody who signed up early but now does not feel comfortable participating.

The parks department also announced that traditional men’s and women’s softball leagues, as well as church softball, will be offered. Tams should register by June 10 at the latest.

Crystal Beach will also open for the season on June 15 and operate under some of the same rules and restrictions.

A maximum of 250 people — including staff — will be allowed in the pool area at one time. As a result, the parks department has set up a three-tiered schedule daily to accommodate as many people as possible.

The pool will be open from 9:30-10:30 a.m. daily for senior swim and water aerobics only and, after a half-hour break for sanitizing, reopen from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Another half-hour sanitizing break will be followed by a final session from 3:30-7 p.m.

The area will be emptied after each session and those wishing to attend the next session will have to pay another admission.

Cost is $5 per session with children under age 3 admitted free with a paying adult.

Senior swimmers from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. will be allowed entry to the 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. session without a second admission

“I think some people will see it as the price rising but in reality, the price is remaining the same

despite the increase costs of operating the pool,” Courtney said, referring to the additional costs to sanitize the area multiple times daily.

In order to stay abreast of the number of individuals in the pool at a time, pass outs will not be available. Pool season passes will also not be sold although Pennington said previously purchased season passes will be honored.

“We have to know who goes in and comes out and right now we just don’t have a way to track that,” Pennington said. “Hopefully in the future that is something that we will be able to do, but right now, this is how it will have to be for the foreseeable future.”

Unlike the Rucker Sports Complex, the concession stand will be open at Crystal Beach. The slide will also be open, with the proper social distancing.

The city also announced the introduction of additional programming at the pool in the evening hours to include water volleyball and water polo.

To sign up a team or to participate as an individual, call the parks department office at 812-265-8308. Those interested in applying for a seasonal employment position with the parks department should visit, Madison-in.gov.

The application can be found on the parks department page.

The next meeting of the Parks Board will be Wednesday, June 24 at 5:30 p.m.
